4.4 PROVISIONING AGREEMENT FOR HOUSING DEVELOPMENTS

B.3. (Cont'd)

4. The PAHD will include, but is not limited to: a description of the development; a requirement that the Developer/Builder provide the Company with an addressed recorded plat; trench and backfill requirements; conduit requirements; reasonable and necessary or otherwise mutually agreed upon requirements for easements, rights-of-way and other similar rights to access the property; surface grading requirements; target dates and inspection schedules; and charges to be paid by the Developer/Builder. (C)
5. The terms and conditions of each PAHD may vary as appropriate and may include provisions that are different from or additional to those in 4.4. (N)
6. Developer/Builders' Responsibilities and Charges (N)
  - a. When a Developer/Builder requests that the Company construct facilities pursuant to a PAHD, the Developer/Builder will be required to disclose whether or not the Developer/Builder has an arrangement or agreement with another provider to provide communications, facilities and services. If the Developer/Builder has entered into an arrangement or agreement with another provider, the Company will not be obligated to place facilities to and within the development or enter into a PAHD with the Developer/Builder. The Company may agree to place facilities within the development under mutually agreeable terms and conditions. (C)
  - b. If 4.4.B.6.a., preceding, does not apply, the following charges and responsibilities shall apply: (N)
    - (1) The Developer/Builder will provide, without expense to the Company, trench and backfill based on the specification provided by the Company for the facilities within the development. The Developer/Builder will also provide, as specified by the Company, conduit with adequate pull string for the service drop from the serving pedestal or property line to the dwelling. In areas where the Company has trench and backfill agreements with other utilities, the Developer/Builder is responsible for the Company's trench and backfill costs. (C)
    - (2) The Developer/Builder shall provide at no cost to the Company a legally sufficient easement to accommodate the placing and maintenance of the facilities (e.g. distribution cables plus terminal pedestals or like devices and access point cabinets) throughout the development. 4.4 PROVISIONING AGREEMENT FOR HOUSING DEVELOPMENTS

- (3) Where the Company deems it necessary or desirable to use private and/or government right-of-way to place facilities to and within the development, such Developer/Builder shall be required to provide or pay the cost of providing such right-of way in addition to any other applicable charges. The route established shall be determined by the Company.
- (4) If in the opinion of the Company, construction to and within the development does not constitute a prudent investment, the Developer/Builder will assume that portion of the construction costs that exceed a prudent financial contribution by the Company. For the purpose of this section (4), construction costs are defined in 4.4.B.7., following.
- (5) The Developer/Builder may request an engineering quote to be performed to establish an estimated construction charge by the Company. All quotes are valid for thirty (30) days from the date they are presented to the Developer/Builder. This fee is non-refundable.

8. For the purpose of 4.4, facilities means feeder facilities and distribution facilities, including but not be limited to communications cable, wire, standard network interfaces, pedestals and terminals necessary to enable end-users to arrange to have communications services to their living unit activated in the future from a standard network interface, as well as any necessary structures including but not limited to communications conduit, sleeveings, and pull strings. Title to all facilities placed by or for the benefit of the Company to provide services to the development shall belong solely to the Company.
